FOREWORD

Millsaps "belongs" in Jackson. In both the beauty of the Old South has joined hands with the industry of the New, to give us four years of Latin poetry and Monday labs; of hospitable homes and convenient modern shops; of fraternity picnics on the river and parades up Capitol Street; Millsaps memories all, drawn against the background of Jackson, and colored by her influence. And so we have tried to express our appreciation by choosing as the theme for our annual publication, a real "Bobashela"; for Jackson has ever been a "good friend" to Millsaps and her generations of students.

DEDICATION

As we consider the forces which operate to make our college an institution of which we are deeply proud, there is one this year which exceeds all others. Dr. M. L. Smith has indeed given generously of his time and thought to his many duties as President; but he has given more. His genuine desire to know each individual student has enabled him to instill in each of us a real appreciation of Millsaps' aims; a feeling of our individual responsibility towards these aims; and a realization that as we accept this responsibility we help our college to progress. He has instilled in us a love for our college which will broaden and grow stronger with the years, and has made us feel that we as students are the crew which, working together keep Millsaps sailing ahead; he steers our course. And so, as an expression of our gratitude for his guidance, it is to him that we dedicate our book.

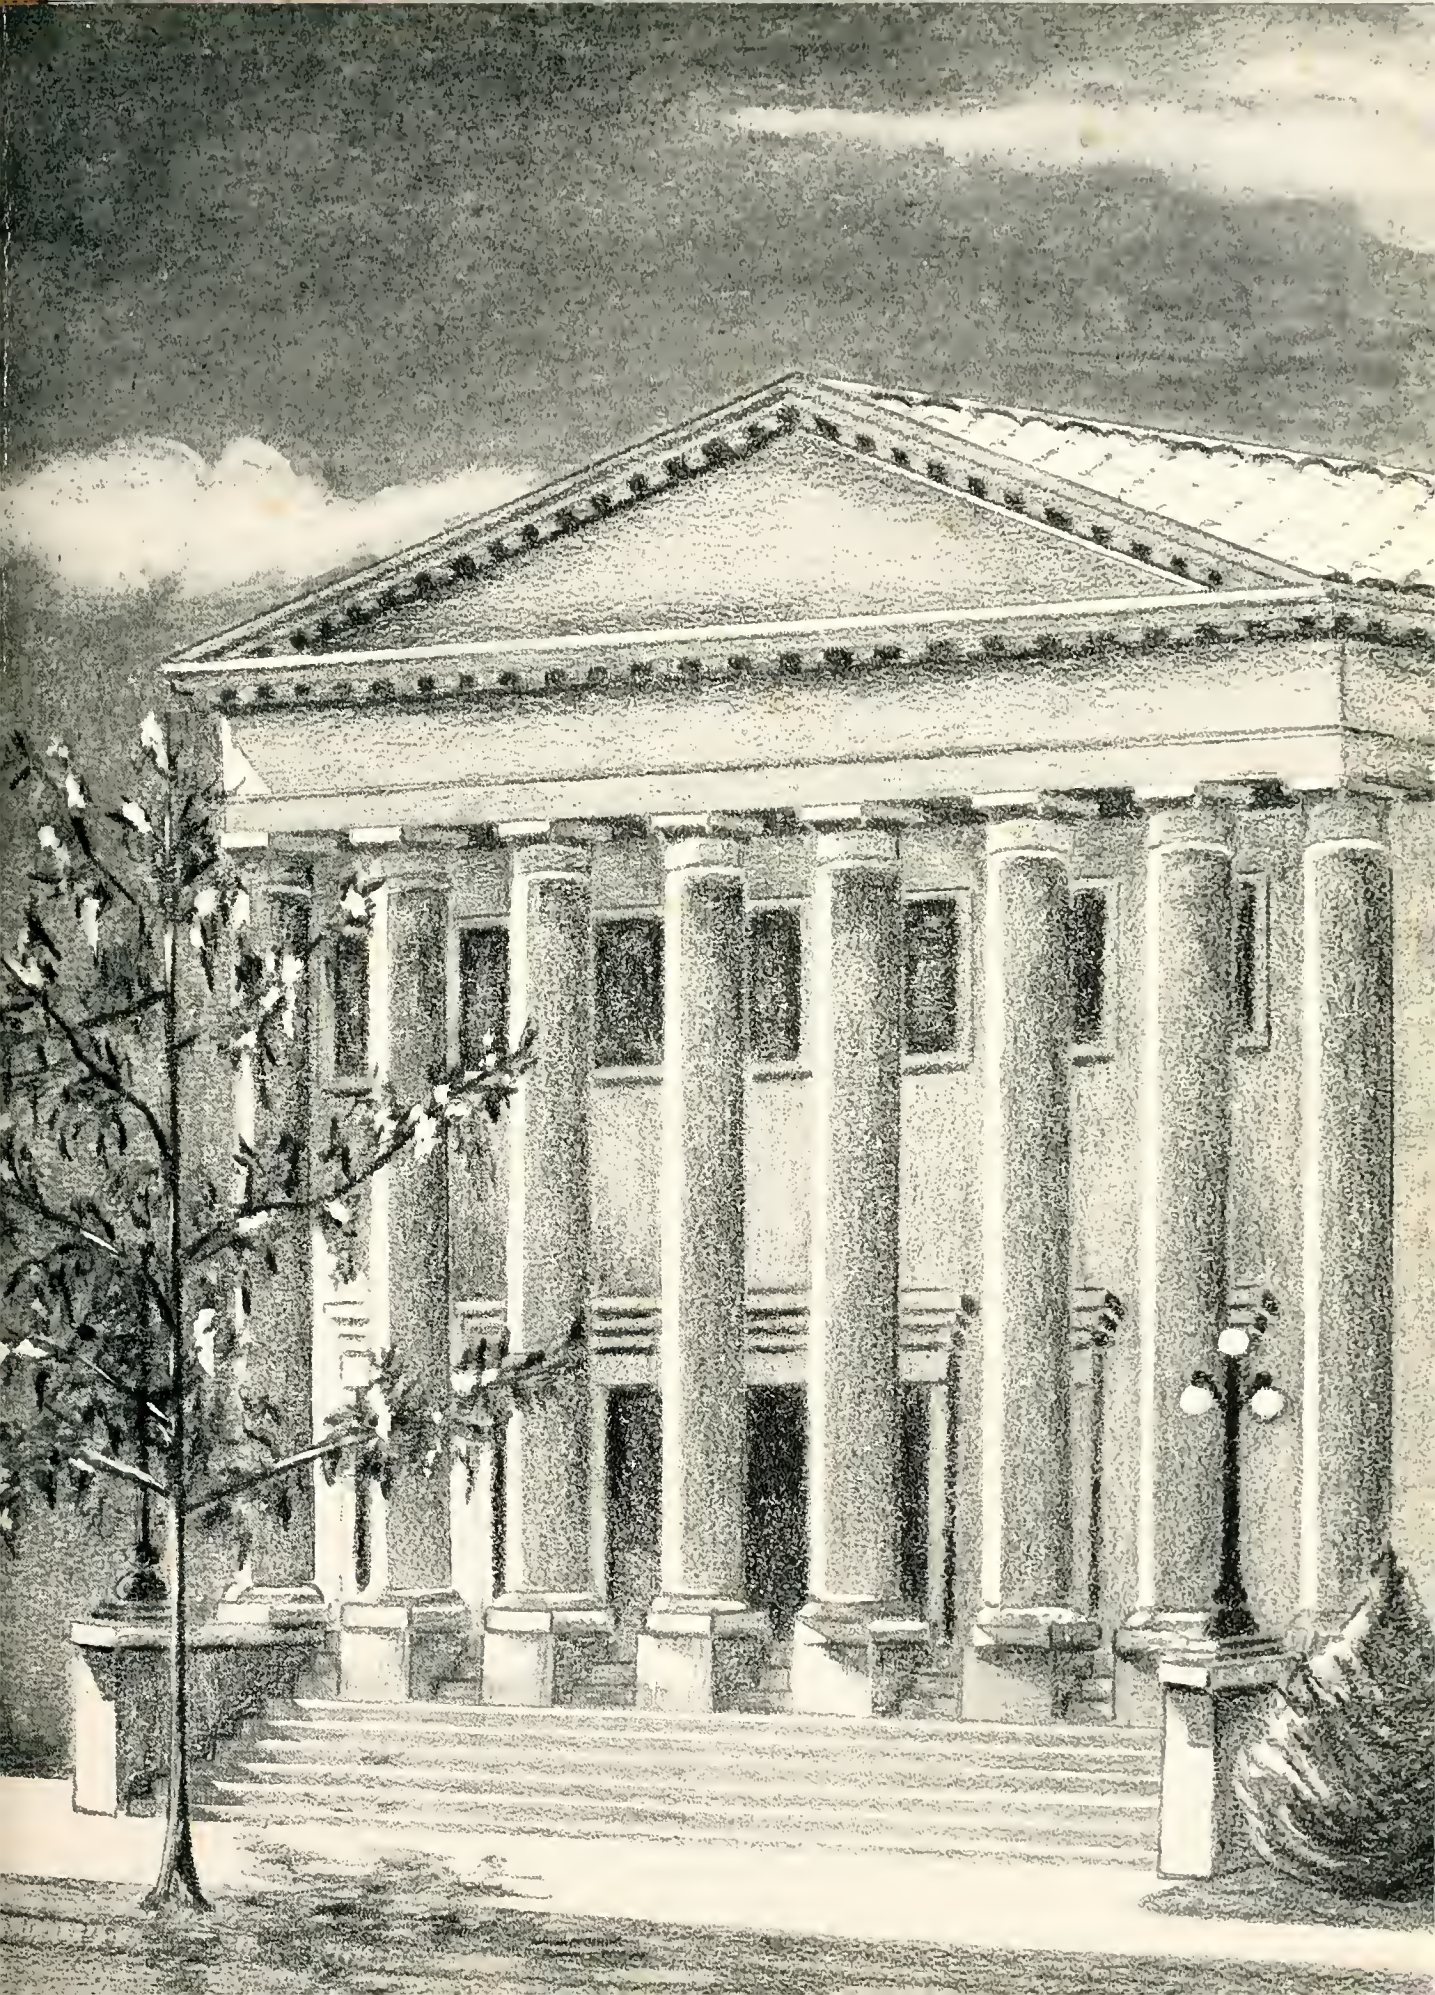

DR. M. L. SMITH

WELCOME

A solid, dependable looking church, Galloway Memorial embodies solid, workable principles, and stands firmly behind Millsaps, ever ready to lend its staunch support.

DR. M. L. SMITH

President's MESSAGE

Teachers, equipment, space, beauty, atmosphere, tradition, location, students, recognition, ideals, and a destiny, well-defined and worthy, are the basic essentials of a great college. Teachers, well-chosen, wise and understanding; physical equipment, well-placed and expertly manipulated; space, open, abundant, soul-expanding and exhilarating; beauty, of hill and valley, of trees and clear sky; atmosphere, inspiring and creative; tradition, glorious, scholarly and enduring; location, easily accessible, central, culturally advantageous; students, highly selected, limited in number and strong; recognition, official, personal, universal and deserving; ideals, of moral, spiritual and mental expansion; destiny, conscious and idealistic. These, I say, are the essential characteristics of a great college.

Once upon a time a man had a dream of an institution which would embody these essentials where the youth of Mississippi could glean an insight into that by which men scale the heights—education. This man was Major Millsaps, and his dream has come true. Millsaps College stands today as a symbol of culture fully recognized by every accrediting agency and educational association in the United States, and presents a program of learning unhampered by political trends, or other factors which tend to limit the freedom of man's thought and to hinder his pursuit of truth. Millsaps College offers to the highest type of Mississippi boys and girls the facilities of an institution deep-rooted in the traditions of scholarship. Conscious as it is of constructive work in the past, Millsaps realizes that an even greater goal and an even higher trust lie ahead. Millsaps College is now a great center of learning—in the future it will be even greater.

—M. L. SMITH, President.

DEAN W. E. RIECKEN

Recognized as one of the best biology teachers in the South, Dr. Riecken has long been liked and admired by students enrolled in his classes. So his appointment as dean was greeted by pride mingled with anxiety as they realized that this might take time from his labs and lectures. However, "Dr. Bill," as he is affectionately called by his close friends, has proved that he is quite capable of managing both positions with ability--successful because of his real understanding of students and campus life.

FOUNDERS HALL

Serving as Dean of Women of Millsaps College is only one of Mrs. Mary B. Stone's many duties, yet it is probably in this capacity that she is best known. Friendly and understanding, she is always ready to help Millsaps girls solve their almost limitless problems. Her liberal outlook and ever-present sense of humor go far toward making her one of the best-liked teachers on the campus.

STUDENT Executive BOARD

SEB, formal go-between for students and faculty, 'tho' always campaigning for something, seldom achieves its goal. Its members, ever enthusiastic, are not always so harmonious. At a meeting one hears Manning vociferously pleading for a statement of the motion, Gee Gee (I keep the minutes) Swayze, after the discussion is ALL over saying confusedly "What was that, now?" and Jimmy Cavett, probably the board's clearest thinker, doing his best to help her out. Conspicuous personalities who assist in obscuring the issue are Teeny Field, the conscientious objector; J. S. Vandiver, the eternal politician; and Jimmy Wall with his conflicting band and 'Shela loyalties. Notable also are Tom Robertson, the quiet humorist, and the Moore-Ogden team campaigning for women's rights.

Seriously, though, they think very hard, come up with some wonderful ideas to which the faculty usually says "NO"! Nothing daunted, however, they continue to suggest. Their project for the year, Dr. D. M. Key's portrait to hang with those of other Millsaps presidents, was successfully completed.

The PURP

"Confidentially, now," says Tom, "the real power on this campus lies, not in the faculty or with the student officers, but in the control of student opinion held by Millsaps' efficacious fourth estate."

Comprising the editorial part of this estate are such penmen as Clayton Morgan, Lawrence Rabb, Mary Askew, "Lad" Waring, sports-hound Joe Brooks, and that furtive, insectile figure--the much-curst and late-lamented Dirt Dauber--all under the direction and censorship of Editor-in-Chief, Tom Robertson.

Heart, body and soul to its editor (and almost that to its staff), the "P. and W." expresses impartially the views of all who dare to publicize them--provides opportunity for student radicals and reactionaries to inflame the campus in behalf of their causes. Responsibility for student elections, polls, and contests, is eagerly assumed by the journalists and the results delayed for days to provide "scoops."

The business end of publication is handled by Johnny Burwell and a staff including such commercialists as Raymond Martin, Sidney Graves, and Harris Carter. To them belongs the credit for securing the ads, keeping up the mailing list, and distributing the paper in the halls each Thursday morning.

Editor Robertson censoring copy.

Associate Staff--those who by virtue of hard work or brilliant journalism get their names on the Masthead.

These able reporters spend most of their time running down the campus big-shots for news on the organizations which said big-shots head. Having obtained the desired information, they rush frantically to a typewriter the last ten minutes before deadline to write up their stories. They emerge with nerves slightly on edge ---but triumphant at having turned in their assignments.

The BOB

The function of the Bobashela differs from that of the "P. & W." in that its province is history rather than the dissemination of news, and its scope includes an entire year, rather than a few days. Like the "P. & W.", however, it provides an opportunity for budding journalists to air their views, and remains as a permanent record of their efforts, as well as of college activities.

Organized almost as soon as school started, the annual staff met regularly to report what it had done; to exult in their new staff room; and to deplore the lack of privacy which allowed the indispensable Mr. Murphy, acting on orders from Dr. Smith, to invade their sanctum at any time for the purpose of removing property that struck their fancy to "parts unknown" elsewhere on the campus. This he did by means of the window (which he alone could unbar) and it was not at all unusual for Editor Moorer to walk in of a morning, bent on serious work, only to find the place ransacked, and everything in a turmoil. In spite of the frequent confusion, however, the staff did accomplish----?

Special credit is due, this year, in addition to the associate staff, to journalists O'Brien and Rundle, and to Assistant Editor, Ess White, general handy man and moral support of the editor.

Following the effective example of Manager Wall, the business staff soon became adept at hounding the student body to buy books and pounding the pavement for ads. Rice Wilson, Jim Thompson, Eva DeCell, and chief propagandist Roy Clark were especially active in arousing the student body to the proper pitch to support the "worthy cause."

EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS

ASSOCIATE STAFF

Chichester, Ricks, Jackson, White, and Childress distinguished themselves by becoming invaluable to the editor, thereby letting themselves in for a lot more hard work. And in recognition of this work the title "Associate Staff" was created and given to them. Contrary to the usual expectations in such cases, they lived up to their title, and the 'Shela greatly appreciates their contributions.

...BIG

Presenting the "big-shots", those students who by virtue of ability, frat brothers, or just sheer willingness have made themselves outstanding in the labs, at the grill, or in Millsaps' numerous activities. Always pressed for time, they still manage to get everything done, possibly because 73% of them have the B-average required for Dean's list and can cut a class "occasionally."

LIFE

MILLSAPS

Just to start the day off right, Dean's List Hamilton, entitled by his B-average to cut classes when he chooses, chooses to cut and amble around the campus with Betty Larsen, while---

These students, either less fortunate, or more ambitious, end up in Ross Moore's History 61 class. Left to right you see Nash Broyles, Glenn Phifer, Cappy Ricks, Charlotte Nichols, and David Donald. The vacancies in the rear are because---

It would appear that people such as Albert Martin can't even make a 10:20 class, much less a 9:25.

A tradition as firmly established at Millsaps as Lloyds in London is the Homecoming Day parade, when Frosh distinguish themselves by appearing in loud pajamas. It's a glorious occasion--the stirring music of the band, the gay floats, cheerleaders almost hoarse, and a carefree student body all participating. Even sleepy-head Martin was there.

Comes 12:30 and the cafeteria stampede, resulting in just this. Anders, Worthington, Green and Tynes stow away vitamins for football. Must admit Anders is getting the best of it.

After dinner 2 o'clock labs take their quota. This particular photo was made in the physics department, which like all Millsaps sciences, has a well-equipped lab for the ever-increasing "B. S." ratio. You can identify Teeny Fields, Virginia Shelton, and Tommy Hathorn.

Millsaps, small liberal arts college located on the hills of Jackson's historic State Street, offers opportunity for fun along with the brand of education which entitles her to be on the approved list of the Association of American Universities. Many of the 650 students are Jackson residents, but there are also representatives of the Delta, the Coast, and surrounding states. There are even a few popular Yankees among the "eds" and co-eds who daily drink Cokes at the Grill.

Louis Crouch is not so successful. He runs into Dr. Ruecken and the little matter of demerits comes up.

After lab no rest for the weary. Here they go through their routine band practice, with Armand Couliet, plus French accent, directing. Their reward comes later in the year when they go on concerts and play in chapel.

Later in the year also, basketball season draws crowds from town, as well as from the campus, to the Millsaps Gym, where such stars as Charlie Ward demonstrate how the game should be played. Because of such outstanding men as Charlie, Millsaps scored top honors this year in winning the Dixie Conference championship.

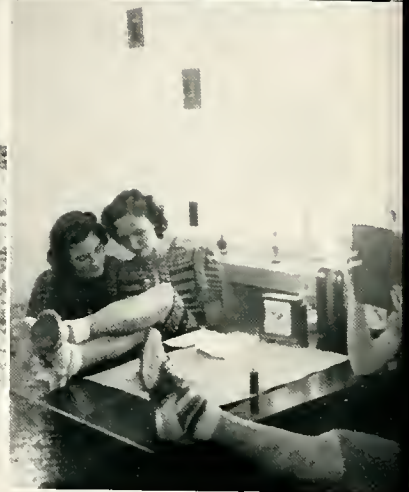

After the game the more socially minded rush madly to College Capers (just opposite the campus) for "re-laxin" before settling down to serious study. While Ed Fleming and Mary Carraway dance to the nickelodeon, Ed Noble, Mary Alyce Moore, Maxine Young, and Edwin Farmer all give respectful attention to "professor" Brady.

Back at the dorms, studes are all set to study.---Could do it very well, too, if it weren't for the inevitable "bull session" which goes on and on into the wee small hours. What do they talk about?---Why everything on earth, and the heavens above and waters under---and probably you, too, if you're a girl.

And just so you won't get the idea that students never have a serious thought, we add this picture of Pike master minds, Ess White and Roy Clark, out to break their own and everybody's else records. It may not be so typical---but some students do study.

Rising to a height of one-hundred seventy feet, the Lamar Life, Jackson's pioneer skyscraper, dominates Capitol Street's eastern end. Identified by its conveniently placed clock, it is viewed by many Millsaps students as a symbol of future openings to Jackson's business world.

MASTER MAJOR and MISS MILLSAPS

Probably the most coveted positions on the campus, the titles "Master Major" and "Miss Millsaps" go this year to Fred Bledsoe and Sara Rhymes.

An outstanding athlete, Bledsoe has steadily won friends throughout his four years at Millsaps by his sportsmanlike conduct and genial smile.

Equally outstanding as a cheerleader and band sponsor, Sara has kept pace with Bledsoe, and brought wide credit to her Alma Mater as well as to herself.

PRESIDENT

Jack Bain, president of the Senior Class, business manager of the Glee Club, treasurer of the Christian Council, vice-president of ODK, and men's Pan-Hellenic, is Lambda Chi Alpha's gift to the coeds, said coeds agreeing that Jack sports the campus's softest shoulder on which to cry either before or after exams. Jack says the Glee Club is his favorite activity and Math and chemistry his favorite subjects. He's going to be a chemist.

OFFICERS

Vice-president of the Senior Class, Nash Broyles is also Rickett's history assistant, and PiKA's strong silent man. He's the unpredictable type. There's always a chance that he'll turn up at the most formal formal with a black eye or a cauliflower ear (he boxes, or did you know?). Fellow members of IRC boost him because he has intelligent opinions on current affairs; everybody else boosts him because he's such an all-'round swell fellow.

Vera Burkhead, secretary-treasurer of the Senior Class and Millsaps' champion booster, says Millsaps has the friendliest students in the whole USA and a Grill where she, for one, has the time of her life. Her favorite sport is swimming, but she plays a fast game of tennis, too. She hopes to teach high school history.

PRESIDENT

Nat (Romance) Rogers, president of the Junior Class, president of the Debate club, vice-president of Eta Sigma Phi and Pi Kappa Delta, Number IV and house manager of Kappa Alpha, etc., etc. . . need we say more? He's a likeable lad with a syrupy southern drawl. His biggest problem at present is "What am I going to be when I finish college?" Editor's prediction: lawyer, banker.

Rogers, Young, Ward

The JUNIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

Charles Ward, vice-president of the Junior Class, vice-president of the Ramblers club, and alternate captain of the varsity football team, admits the thing he likes best about Millsaps is its location. It's near Pelahatchie, and those who know Charlie know why that's important. An all-round athlete, he specializes in basketball. He'll probably be a coach.

Maxine Young, secretary-treasurer of the Junior Class, vice-president of KD pledges, and cheerleader, is a transfer from Wesson who made good here overnight. She likes social science a lot, but English, her major, more. (Mrs. Stone please note.) As to the future, Maxine says "I'd like to be a housewife, but will probably be an old maid school teacher!" Say we, anybody who can keep a man six years needn't worry.

Bobashela nomination for a school mascot. The monotonous drone of Denver's tractor often saves us from the utter mental defeat caused by the monotonous drone of the profs.

Graves, Mansfield, Branch

PRESIDENT

Willie Branch, president of the Sophomore Class is a rugged individualist except with respect to Charlie Ward—to whom he is yes-man. After lunch you'll find him with all other football boys stationed on the front porch at Founders' to watch the parade of coeds. He plays both basketball and football and will probably be a coach. However, his majors are physics and astronomy.

The SOPHOMORE CLASS

OFFICERS

Sidney Graves, vice-president of the Sophomore Class, circulation manager of the Purple and White, says Millsaps cafeteria society intrigues him. "—the way some people flirt—." Sidney is a pre-med student, and his favorite course is Riecken's biology.

Martha Mansfield, secretary-treasurer of the Sophomore Class, vice-president of KD, says "I love every single thing about Millsaps, but best of all the students."—Which statement her fellow-debunkers-of-History-51 may term "propaganda designed to cloud the issue of one special—single—student! (And she's going to be a school teacher because she's not optimistic about proposals.)

The FRESHMAN CLASS

PRESIDENT

Davis Christmas, president of the Freshman Class, hailing from Laurel, is a radical! He approves Millsaps' policy of education first, football second, and he's the Minor star quarterback. He'd like to retire and inherit a million dollars (wouldn't we all) but concludes that he'll probably wind up a patient young chemist playing nursemaid to a batch of test-tubes.

OFFICERS

Billy Ross, vice-president of the Freshmen and KA pledges, is going to be a lawyer. However, the versatile young man likes history, is majoring in social sciences, and feels he has gotten the most out of his English course.

Geraldine Sumrall, secretary-treasurer of the Freshman class, president of KD pledges, editor of Frosh P&W and sponsor's maid at the Birmingham-Southern game, plans to major in voice. Her favorite activity is Glee Club, favorite subject French, favorite sport football; she herself plays badminton and ping pong.

The Pikes did their utmost to pledge this man when they saw what a way he had with the women, but the "hot-boxing" drove the poor fellow away.

The "M" CLUB

The "M" Club is composed of students who win letters in athletic competition at Millsaps and is one of the strongest organizations on the campus.

Terry Walters served as president of the club during the past year; Ed Hogan was vice-president; William Green, secretary-treasurer, and Milan Richardson was elected club reporter.

The "M" Club has been especially active this year and has had a large increase in members because of the number of junior college transfers who played football this season.

FOOTBALL

Henry Louis "Hook" Stone has just finished his first year as head football coach at Millsaps, coming here with a notable record for turning out championship grid teams at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College. Stone enjoyed a winning season in 1939 and has laid most of the groundwork for Millsaps' championship teams of the future.

Hook's football assistant this year was Bernie Ward, whose assistance has been very valuable.

Freshman Coach Melvin Richardson has continued his fine work of past seasons, leading the yearling gridders through their best season in years and coaching a winning first-year basketball team.

B. O. VAN HOOK
Athletic Director

B. O. Van Hook has been serving as athletic director, coach of the basketball team, and coach of the track team for many seasons now and is one of the most popular members of the faculty. He has had especial success this year with his basketball team, which led the Dixie Conference during the season.

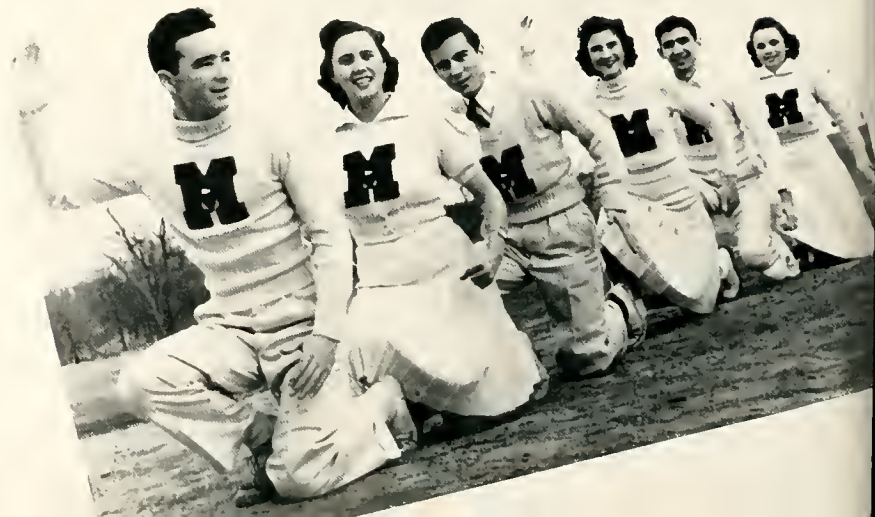

THE COACHING STAFF

THE CHEERLEADERS

No collegiate athletic contest is complete without cheerleaders, and Millsaps has been fortunate in having an excellent squad. Under the leadership of Head Cheerleader Pemble "Teeny" Field, they have given much of their time and energy to keeping Millsaps' school spirit at a high pitch at games and pep meetings.

THE MANAGERS AND THE FOOTBALL SQUAD

Under the guidance of its new coach, Henry Louis "Hook" Stone, the varsity football team went through its first winning season in several years, winning four games, losing three and tying two.

Millsaps got off to a flying start in Coach Stone's debut game by defeating Delta State 14--0 at the fair grounds. Charlie Ward and Milan Richardson led the way.

In their next start the Majors journeyed to Birmingham and upset the Dixie Conference champion Howard team 7--6. This was Millsaps' best played game of the season and was featured by the work of Ward, Granville Hamby, Willie Carter, and Phillip Shipp.

On Saturday of the state fair week the Purple and White battled to a scoreless tie with the powerful State Teachers College Yellowjackets. Union University handed the Methodists their first defeat of the season by trouncing them 12--0 at Jackson, Tennessee.

The Birmingham-Southern Panthers rallied to tie Millsaps 7--7 at the fair grounds after Phil Shipp had sent the Majors ahead with a fifty yard punt return. Interest in Jackson soared to a new high over the traditional Millsaps-Mississippi College clash, but the Choctaws surprised Major fans with an astonishing 29--0 whitewashing.

The Purple Platoon defeated Spring Hill 6--0 before a large Homecoming Day crowd on a brilliant punt return and forward pass by Sophomore Halfback Ed Matulich. Mississippi State trounced the scrappy Majors 40--0, and then the varsity wound up its season with a 2--0 victory over the West Tennessee Teachers at Memphis.

The entire Major team showed excellent ability and fine spirit throughout the tough nine-game season.

Granville "Pap" Hamby, a transfer from Copiah-Lincoln Junior College, won honors for himself and the team by winning a guard position on the All Dixie Conference team.

Boutwell, Pearson, Hathorn

LETTE

GRANVILLE "Pap" HAMBY

Right Guard Granville "Pap" Hamby was easily the outstanding football player on the team. An all-state junior college star at Wesson, Hamby was selected on the All-Dixie Conference team in his first year at Millsaps. He is expected to repeat again next year.

WILLY CARTER, End

Willy Carter developed into one of the best defensive ends in Millsaps' history and turned in some brilliant exhibitions of wing play last season.

TERRY WALTERS, End

Playing his last year of football, Terry Walters was one of the Majors' strongest assets with his fine playing and team spirit.

BRANDON BELL, Back

Quarterback Brandon Bell was the best blocker on the squad last year as a sophomore and is expected to be one of the team's star performers for the next two seasons.

PHILLIP SHIPP, Back

Halfback Phil Shipp turned in the best ball carrying performance for the Majors and led all the backs in this department.

HENRY STEINRIEDE, Back

Henry Steinriede showed great promise as a sophomore fullback in the '39 season and is expected to develop into a swell line-plunger for the next two seasons.

FORD "SCOOP" CANTERBURY, End

Although only a sophomore, Scoop was the best pass receiver on the club this year and will probably win lots of fame before he is through with football at Millsaps.

FRED BLEDSOE, Tackle

The FRESHMEN

The 1939 freshman football team, directed by Coach Melvin Richardson, enjoyed the best season of any Millsaps yearling team in several years. The strong Minors won three games and lost only one.

After losing their opener 9-0 to the Ellisville Junior College gridders, the frosh defeated Perkinson Junior College 12-0 in a home game.

Ed Gillum, brilliant Millsaps halfback, led the locals to a 7-0 victory over the powerful Louisiana Tech first-year eleven, and the Minors swamped their Mississippi College rivals 40-0 to close their season.

Ed Gillum starred in the yearling backfield, while Burnell Smith, Jay Smith, Tex Cleckler, and the entire line made a name for themselves by their great play.

BASKET

Dear, Branch, Tynes, Miles, Jones, Richardson, Hammack, Carter, Green, Ward, Adcock, Williams.

The basketball team enjoyed its best season in years during 1940, breezing through a difficult schedule in fine fashion and being crowned Dixie Conference champions by winning the Dixie tournament held in Jackson.

The fine showing of the hoopsters this season was largely due to the excellent coaching of B. O. Van Hook, who started from scratch at the opening of the season but whipped together a championship team in short order.

Millsaps made a runaway of the conference tourney by trouncing Mercer, Chattanooga, Howard, and their rivals, Mississippi College, in the final game. The Majors split a four game series with the Choctaws and wound up their regular schedule with 12 wins and 10 losses.

Sophomore Cliff Jones and veteran Charlie Ward, both All-Dixie selections, topped Millsaps' scorers with their eagle-eyed shooting. Willy Branch and Oscar Tynes also showed scoring ability, and Wiley "Army" Williams, Willy Carter, and Milan Richardson turned in brilliant defensive work.

BASEBALL at MILLSAPS

A large squad answered Coach Bernie Ward's call for baseball candidates and has been working hard to get into shape for another two months of strenuous diamond activity.

On paper the club seems to shape up about as strong as it did last year, with only three men lost by graduation, although their departure weakens the hitting strength somewhat.

COACH RICHARDSON

The

Only a few years ago Coach Melvin Richardson was breaking track records at Millsaps as an undergraduate. Just to prove that he is still in shape, he clears a hurdle in perfect (?) form.

TRACKSTERS

As we go to press the track team has not yet begun the most extensive schedule it has faced in several seasons. Track meets have been slated against such opponents as Mississippi College, Southwestern, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, and the other Dixie Conference members.

Prospects are not as bright as they were for the 1939 club. Such outstanding stars as Blondy Rush, Bert Melton, Gerald Carmichael, Wirt Beard, Shotgun Herron, and Gene Price are missing.

However, the cinder artists have some fine competitors on hand this season in low hurdler Joe Miles, high hurdler Ford "Scoop" Canterbury, jumper Gordon Worthington, pole vaulter Jay Smith, weight thrower H. I. Ellzey, and javelin thrower J. B. Upton, and are expected to garner lots of points in each meet.

2nd Row: Taylor, Wilson, Sumrall, Warren, Tynes, Gregory, Ellzey, Cleckler, Lowther

TENNIS TEAM

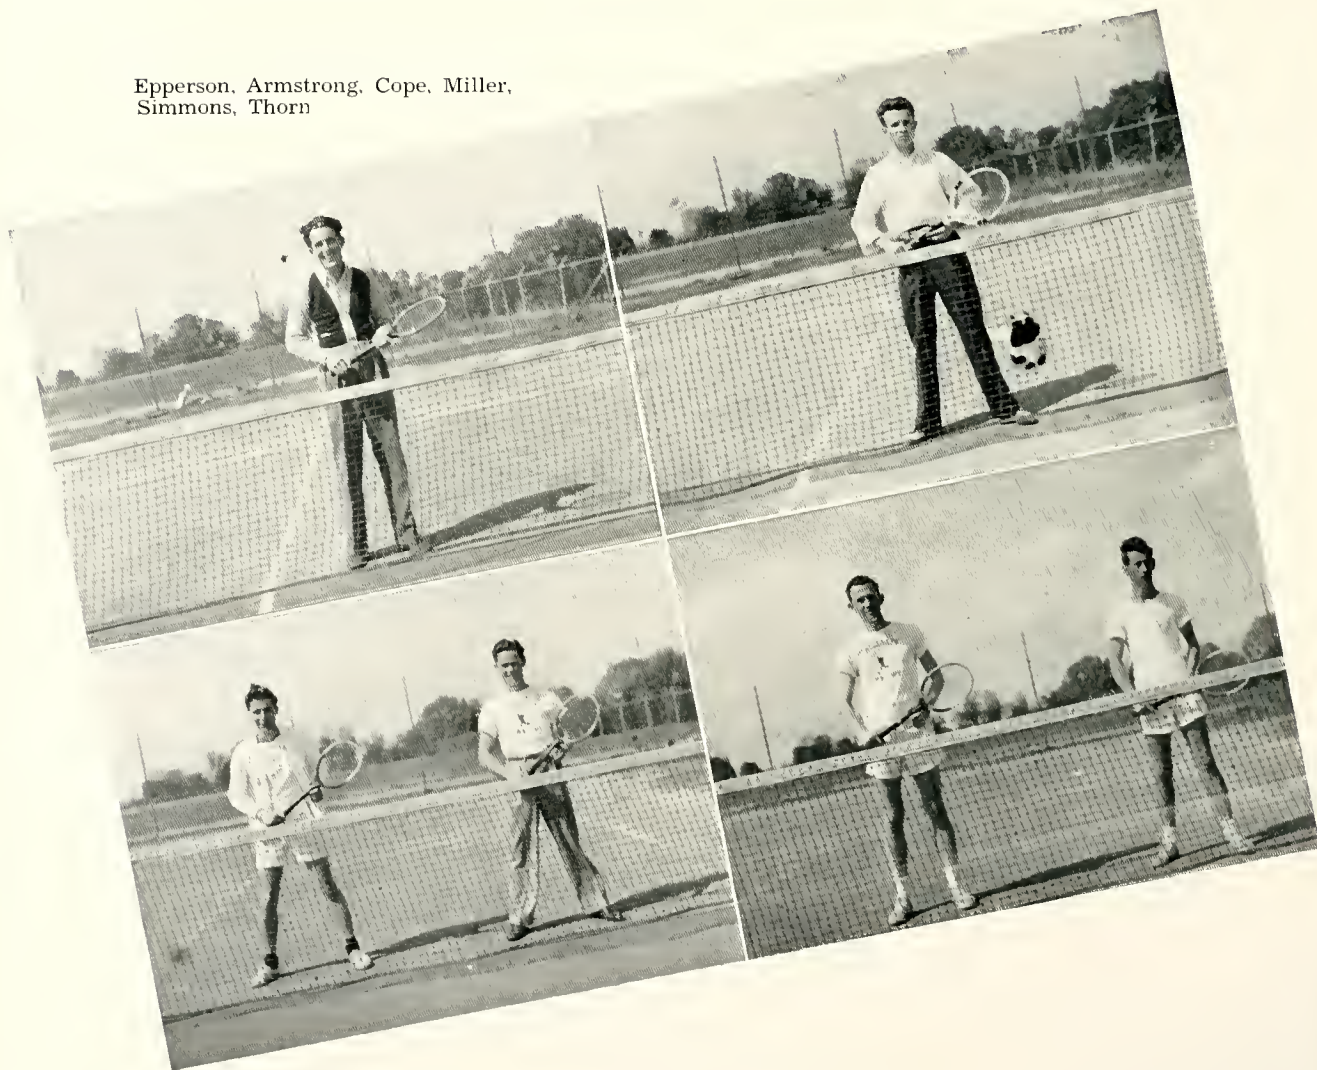

The 1940 tennis team appeared to be better than last year's in its early practice and should go through a fairly successful season, although only two lettermen returned.

Playing in the number one position again was Earl Epperson, the star freshman of the 1939 team, who had the best individual record last year. Ira Thorn, another sophomore, was the only veteran to return.

The best of the newcomers are little Johnny Miller and lanky W. E. Simmons, who have been playing excellent tennis and who show a great deal of promise.

De Loach Cope and Pee Wee Armstrong round out the team, which is coached by Dr. M. C. White.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

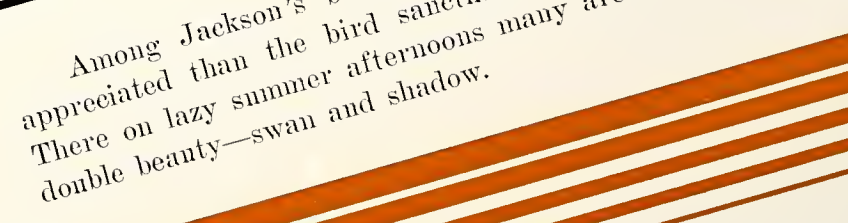

The Women's Athletic Association outlines and carries out an extensive program of athletics for girls, including physical education classes and intra-mural competition between the sororities.

Among the wide range of sports offered on the program are basketball, volleyball, tennis, softball, table tennis, badminton, archery, and golf.

BEAUTIES

Among Jackson's beauty spots none is more widely appreciated than the bird sanctuary of Livingston Park. There on lazy summer afternoons many are attracted by a double beauty—swan and shadow.

GEORGE PETTY - - -

Selects the Beauties

In order to get a real artist's opinion of the beauties who rule Millsaps' campus, pictures of twenty girls, selected as "choice" by Student Executive Board, were sent this year to George Brown Petty for judging. Artist Petty, well-known for his sketches of lovely girls, obligingly accepted the task, and we give you here his selection.

As "Queen," Sara Rhymes; as the next five, Bert Watkins, Myrtle Ruth Howard, Una Caldwell, Louise Moorer, and Sara Stephens.

PETTY
February 5, 1940.

Miss Louise Moorer, Ed.,
1940 Bobashela,
Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.

Dear Miss Moorer:

Where did you ever find all those million dollar Millsaps maidens?

Don't you realize this gives the judge the jitters and makes the administration of justice a job envied by none? What I am trying to say is you made the choice very difficult.

Follows one mans' opinion, in order:

Queen -	Miss	Sarah Rhymes
Second -	"	Bert Watkins
Third -	"	Myrtle Howard
Fourth -	"	Una Caldwell
Fifth -	"	Louise Moorer
Sixth -	"	Sara Stephens

If this is a sample of one department, it looks like this year's Bobashela should be the best ever,

Cordially,

George B. Petty
George B. Petty.

Sara Rhymes

In addition to possessing the beauty which won her laurels as "Queen," Sara's also versatile enough to fit in any group. She swims, cooks, types, bicycles,—but dislikes bridge. Band and football sponsor, she likes athletes, and is B. S. U. president. She doesn't like sweets, fellows, so send flowers, red preferred.

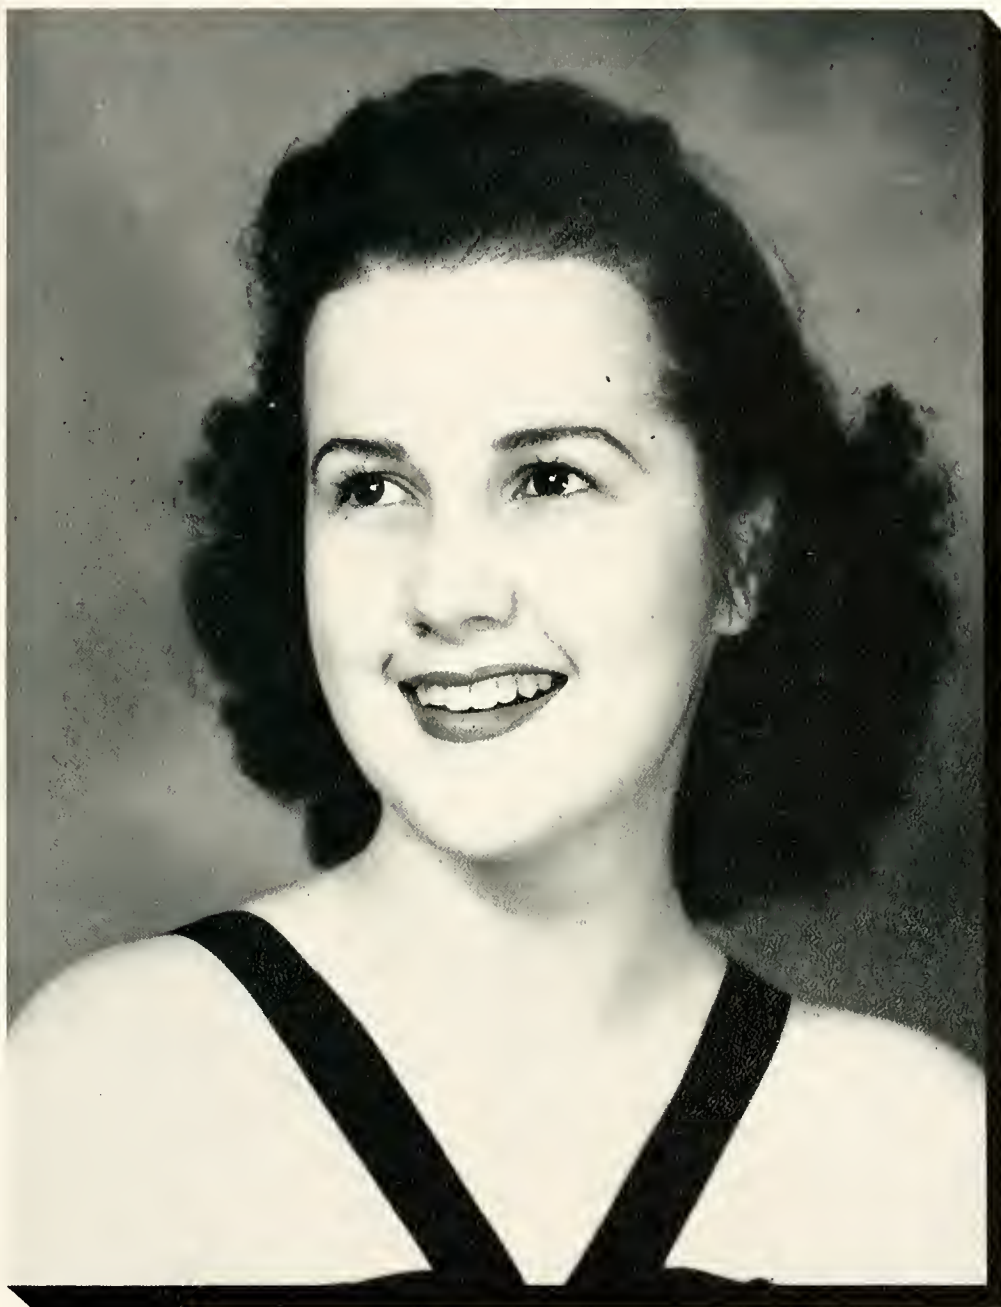

Bert Watkins

Quoting Bert, "My hobby, if you could call it that, is picnicking." Her favorite sport was mastered also by Robin Hood and William Tell. In English class and Glee Club she shines. Believe it or not—she's one red-headed girl without a temper.

Myrtle Ruth Howard

Her continual hiccougs do not seem to bother good-natured Myrt, who adds gay notes to any gathering. She's artistically inclined, wild about dancing and having her picture made, but black cats give her cold chills.

Una Caldwell

Boys, here's another good cook. Una likes teas, "The One Rose," and good conversation; has a peculiar nickname—"Boy." If she gets by Dr. Musgrave, she may teach psychology someday, too.

Louise Moore

Take it from us, our editor has, besides beauty, artistic talent and executive ability. She likes sports and has the cutest little dog! Louise hopes for a career (commercial art, maybe) and a place where she can raise millions of flowers. Pet hate?—the library! (Uncensored)

Sara Stephens

Sally is, as she says, "in love with love," doesn't have crushes, and rates Millsaps boys "unusually high." A former M. S. C. W. beauty, she'll teach history "until 'he' comes along." Hobbies?—Chinese checkers, candid camering, and making gingerbread.

Millsaps

FAVORITES

According to George Petty's own admission, he had a hard time selecting six "Most Beautiful" girls out of the group of twenty pictures sent him.

These fourteen others, equally as attractive to those who know them, take their places as Millsaps' favored favorites. You see them everywhere, adding charm to any group.

BEVERLEY DICKERSON

Xylophonists aren't nearly as bad as they sound—take Beverley, for instance. She's plenty good at cheer-leading, too, and if you ever see her without her chewing gum—look again—it can't be Beverley!

VIRGINIA SWAYZE

Millsaps' baby—Gee-Gee, in her senior year, is just eighty-nine pounds of friendliness—four feet ten inches of school spirit. Dramatics, chapel-cutting, politics, and shades of green appeal to her. She has a secret love, too.

GLENN PHIFER

Equally at home behind the footlights, in French Club, in the kitchen, in the water, or at the ball—Glenn is, however, demureness, itself. She likes formal parties, enjoys classical music, won't walk under ladders, and edited last year's "Bobashela."

DOLORES DYE

You've seen Dolores in the spotlight before, as Millsaps' favorite tap-dancer. She can draw, too—may be a designer. Her grades are about "tops," (as President of Eta Sigma, they should be!) When it comes to sports, she'll take roller-skating.

NANETTE KARRAKER

Nanette was "Miss Tutwiler" before she got in our beauty section. She has three-day crushes; likes Tyrone Power, "Stardust," scrapbooks, and Millsaps boys, ("they're tops!"); once fell all the way down Galloway's stairs. Call her "Blondie."

ANN STONE

Ann easily disproves the axiom, "pretty, but dumb." Among other things she enjoys good music, good books, long walks; and she's quite a French scholar. For your own safety—don't pop your gum when she's within hearing distance.

GERALDINE SUMRALL

Gerry's a whiz at ping-pong and really not bad as a vocalist. If she chooses a career it will probably be music. Dramatics and journalism (she edited the "Freshman P. & W.") also claim a share of her time.

MARTHA CONNER

A senior at nineteen, "Shorty" plans a career in a laboratory. An outdoor girl, she likes camping; spends her time cooking (she's good, boys), playing, swimming, and glee-clubbing. She enjoys informal parties and is keen about athletes.

MAXINE YOUNG

The Junior Class's Secretary smiles longingly at scrap-books, ambrosia, picnics, football heroes, and anything blue: is good at tennis and, so she says, singing. She's a Millsaps cheer-leader and bites her finger-nails.

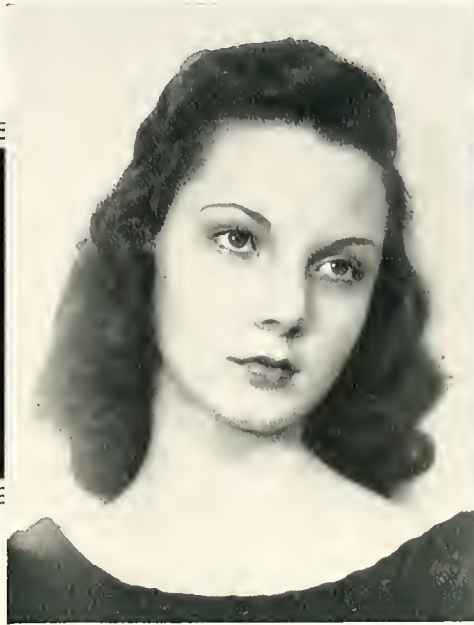

DORA FRANCES GREEN

Dee-Dee, another drum majorette, is a sharp history student, understands politics, and keeps up with world affairs. Dancing's her hobby, though; soft-ball and swimming—her sports. No career for her, she'll graduate in '43, travel a year, and marry—maybe.

MARY FAY REESE

This black-haired, brown-eyed, former M. S. C. W. Most Beautiful came to Millsaps because she'd "always wanted to go to school in Jackson." Her favorite sport is tennis; study—religion. Talents?—Well, principally just poise and friendliness.

MILLICENT LAMPE

Glamorous and ambitious, Millie is taking, of all things, Pre-med!, will probably be a laboratory technician. A strange mixture of talents leads her to music, zoology, aquatics, dancing, mathematics, and bath-tub-caroling. Red's her color.

OLGA WRIGHT

Domestic and talented, Olga is an expert seamstress, a good cook, an accomplished equestrienne, and a drum-majorette. Speedy in an auto, she prefers "sweet" music, but jitterbugs "conservatively." New friends, sororities, and fun brought her to Millsaps.

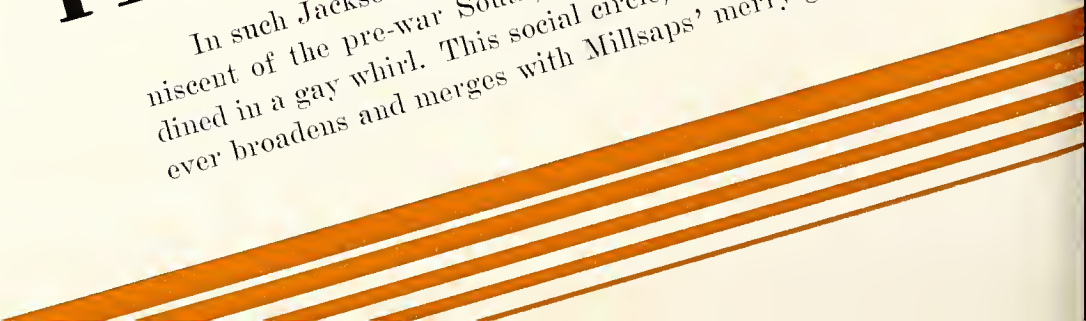

MARTHA McILWAIN

This Delta lass has already set her eye (and heart) on one lucky Major. Hailing from where she does, Martha's naturally fond of dancing and horse-back riding. She also plays golf, and has never had enough strawberry shortcake.

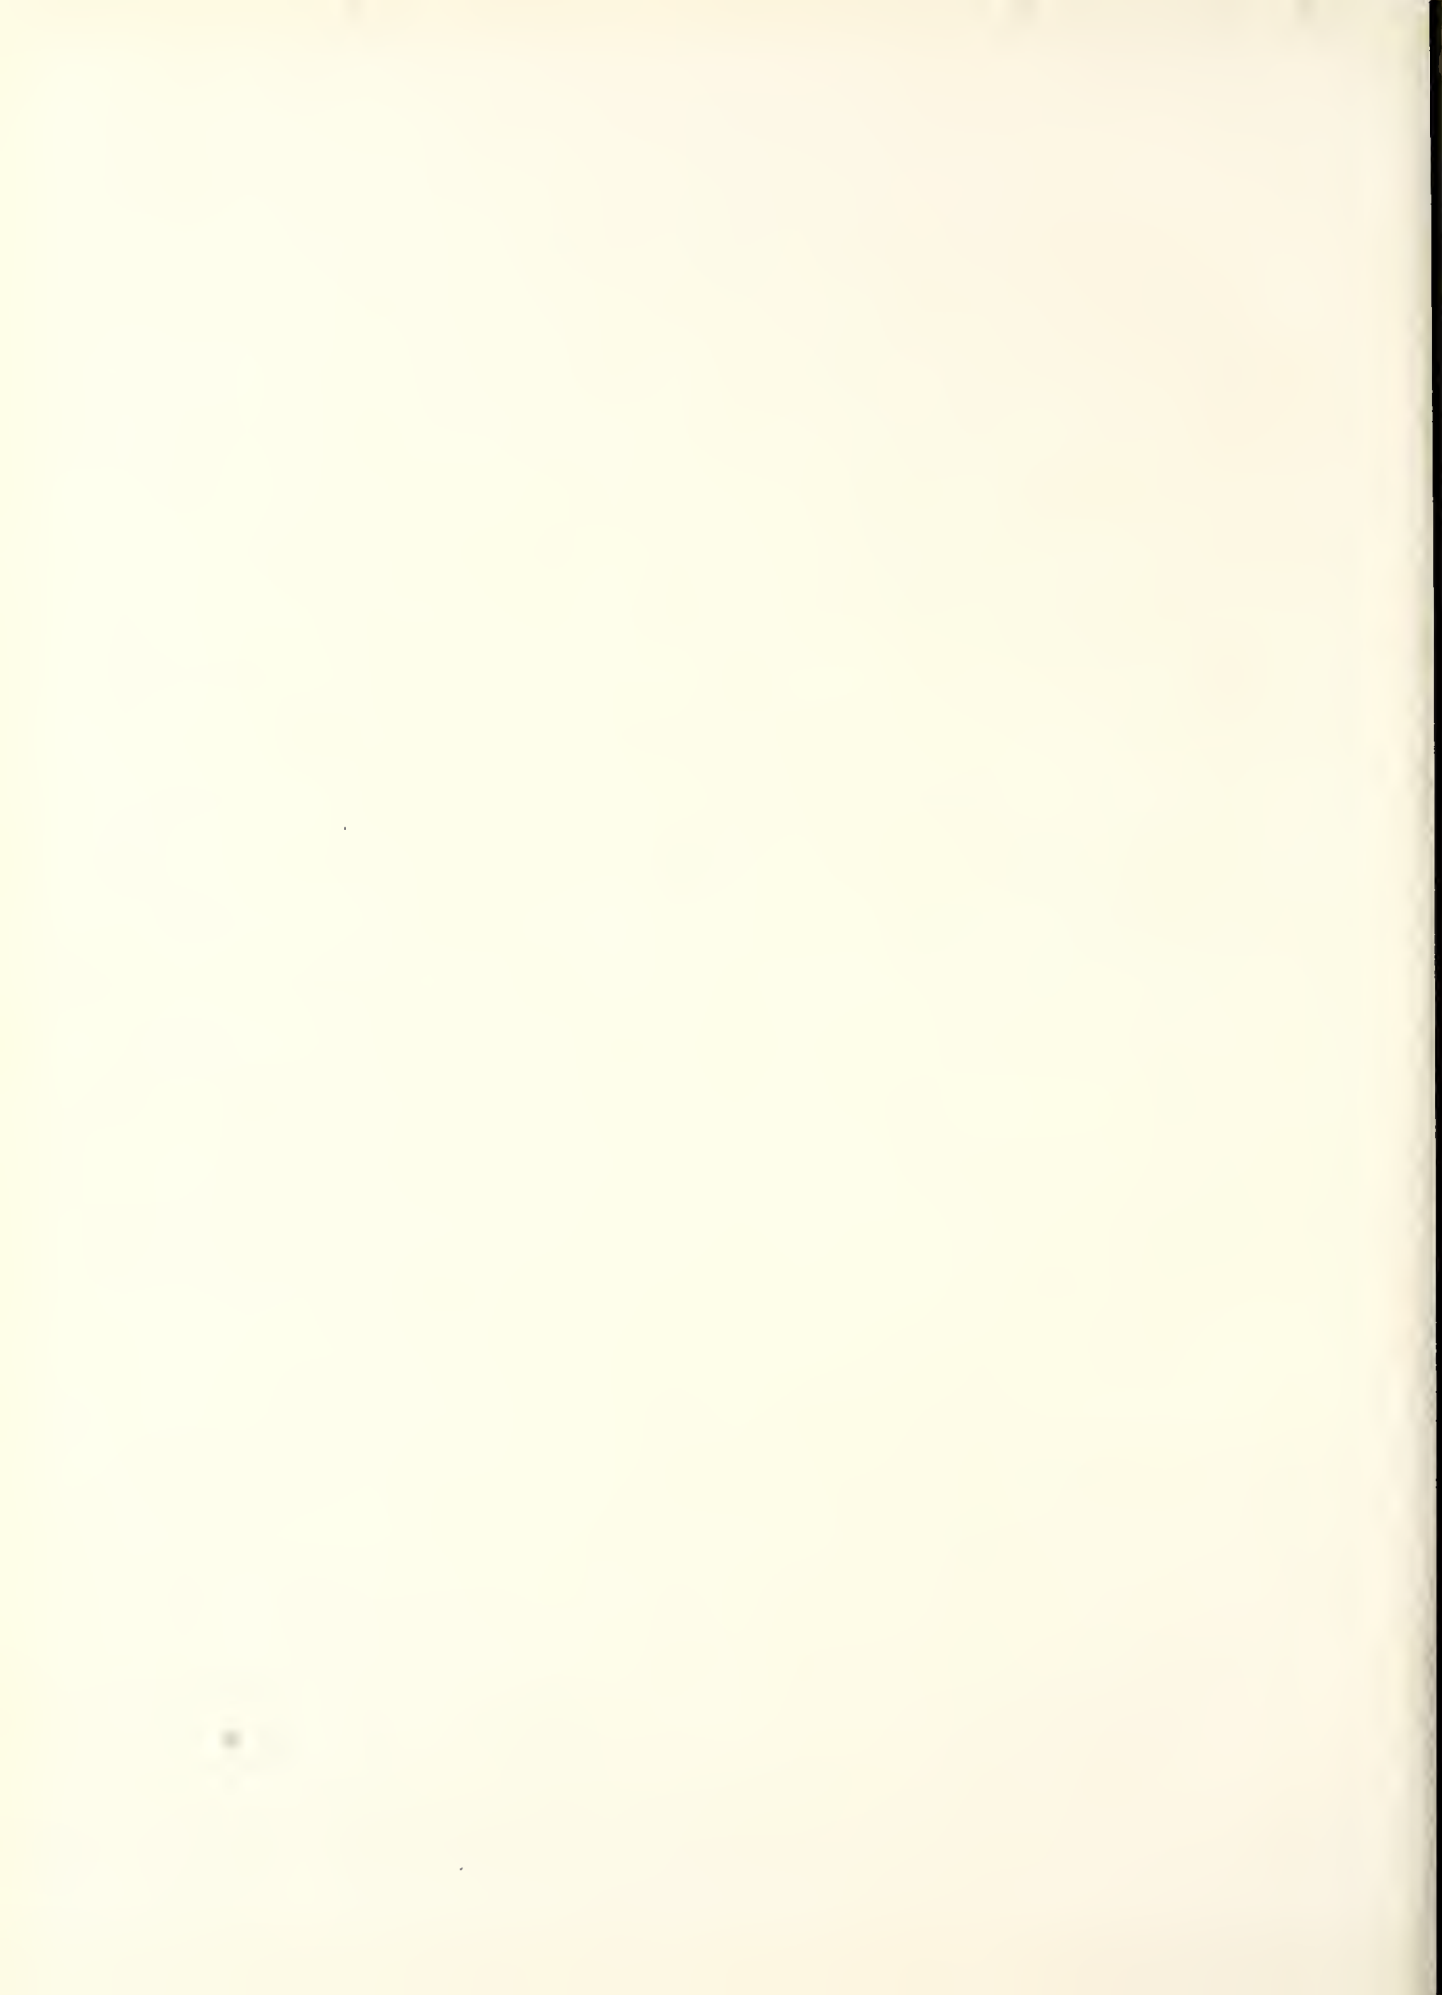

THE SOUTHS

In such Jackson homes as the Hendersons', faintly reminiscent of the pre-war South, the younger set is wined and dined in a gay whirl. This social circle, friendly and inviting, ever broadens and merges with Millsaps' merry-go-rounders.

L. MODRER

Brooks, Bain, Murry, Noble, Selman, Bledsoe, Clark, Walters, Vandiver, Phillips.

MEN'S PAN-HELLENIC

Nobody has a very clear idea of just what these boys have done in this particular capacity. That's probably because there isn't a great deal for them to do; among Millsaps' pet prides are her inter-fraternity relations. The groups all have a great deal of self-pride, and tell jokes on each other, but when it comes to getting along on the campus, they can do that too. The Men's Pan-Hellenic, composed of two representatives from each fraternity, is here anyway in case it should be needed; it yearly goes over the rushing rules, which have become routine, meets once or twice, and that's that.

The sons of the South don't let you forget that they are the oldest frat on the campus--perhaps even existing part of the time sub rosa until the anti-fraternity law was repealed in 1894. They also boast of Jackson alumni, their file of old exams, Mrs. Flowers' spaghetti, Robert E. Lee, and BMOC Vandiver, Hudson, Lancaster. Other chapter personalities include Big-Shot Graves, the brothers Phillips, jitterbugs McGlohn and Hall, cynic Ricks, Sara Rhymes. To carry on the KA tradition of politics are freshmen Dabbs and Scott. The numerous faculty brothers (7) are reminded of their allegiance during rush week, on Robert E. Lee's birthday (when all KA's wear red roses) and just after exams.

Jackson girls saw the first "Kappa Sigma moon" shine, flooding the campus in 1895. Since then many a frosh has disturbed the gold-fish in the icy waters of Belhaven fish pool, all for the scarlet, green and white; and donned white overalls on graduation night for the Sig (alumni!) barn dance. In recent years the boys at 1400 N. West have gone athletic with a bang, shining both in intramural and inter-collegiate sports. Present prides are Red Wilson, Blondie, William Green, Little Rich', Ed Hogan. The star and crescent shines in other fields on the shirt pockets of Booty Boutwell, Preacher Wroten, Socialite Science Selman, Rebel Rabb (that wicked boy!) and in the eyes of Eager.

Leaving the dream-girls to shift for themselves temporarily the Pikes dashed out last summer and acquired the new frat house south of the campus down Marshall Street way. Here the banners of garnet and gold flap proudly over the numerous sons as they ping-pong (game-room to the left), read Esquire (reading room upstairs out of the ladies' reach) and hold meetings in the private chapter room up the disappearing stair. Ably led for 2 years by Bo, ably tormented by Housemanager Doss and Treasurer (uh-huh, you guessed it:) Roy Clark; inably embroiled in politics by Painter and White, and always respectful of House Mother Moorer (uncensored), the boys are nobly upholding their chapter traditions of scholarship, fast talkers, numerous pledges, and small picnics.

A little confusion here, due to the fact that the merger of Lambda Chi with Theta Kappa Nu caught some of the boys with Theta pins. But whether you call them Thetas or Lambda Chis, you still admire Jack Bain for his dignity as president, persistence as a student, and versatility as ladies' man; you still think Joe Brooks is a swell actor (even if he ain't no Robert Taylor!); you still wonder how the trustees took that Homecoming float; and are amazed that Floyd Gillis writes Deep poetry. Through the years Millsaps' most consistent Belhave-men, the Theta-Lambda's this year are represented there by Lamar Beacham, Hudson, and aforementioned Bain.

WOMEN'S PAN-HELLENIC

Composed of two representatives from each sorority, this group acts as combination Congress and Supreme Court to set up rushing rules and act as arbiter of the rare misunderstandings among sororities. They entertain the men's Pan-Hellenic once a year—this year with a supper and picture show on February 7, and under their banner the sororities enjoy a picnic in the spring where they all pal around before rushing. But the 1939-40 Women's Pan-Hellenic will go down in history, not because of their fidelity to what is expected of the organization, but because they went even further to sponsor Leap Week, February 24-March 2 when girls made dates, went broke, and had fun generally, turning the tables on the men.

Toddle-house Darden is in charge this year; she's also famous for blackboard cartoons and matching pins. Also answering present to the roll are band-sponsor, beauty queen, Miss Millsaps Rhymes; the campus twins, literatae Mayfield, Glamor Campbell.

The sisters of the dagger and diamond have been around since 1914 wearing white roses and colors of green and white. They traditionally fete their pledges with a white rose breakfast and initiate them by degrees. Madame President is Elizabeth Durley who also wields the gavel for Women's Pan-Hellenic. Carrying on the Swayze tradition is Gee-Gee, whom you see elsewhere and often among these pages. Enrolled in KD's secretarial science courses are Frosh sec. Sumrall, Soph sec. Mansfield, Junior sec. Maxine Young, student body secretary Gee-Gee (see above). Other shining diamonds are Majorette Lampe, Sig L. McGahey, Betty Larsen, whose poetry is super, cheerleaders Young and Castle.

For fourteen years Beta Sigs have burned the midnight oil in their Grecian lamp at Millsaps, and never to more advantage than this year: by its light President Frances Ogden continues her string of A's while running Woman's Association; Mary Askew piles up honoraries like Porter piles up frosh tumblers; and Martha Conner has disrupted senior chapel distributing chapter mail! And of course there's Martha Kendrick, whom you'll find over in a lab somewhere, being friendly and efficient.

The X and horseshoe is comparatively new among sorority pins at Millsaps, having first appeared on a sweater in 1934. The present chapter is famous for Homecoming floats, angora sweaters, and the Every Afternoon Bridge Club which holds forth in the southwest side of the new dorm. They sing Chi Omega words to any tune you can mention; the secret to this is Sheffield. They pester their pledges about activities, tell them to work hard and they'll grow up to be like Glenn. Convenient for the sisterhood are Ann, who knows all about French, scientist Nichols; Little Bit and Una B. who can pick dropped stitches; big-shots Phifer, O'Brien, Moorner, Stone; and "Oh, I'd love to!" Ricks who will plan a party, work on drives, and can also fix you up with the profs.

The MILL

SPONSOR RHYMES

Forty-nine strong the Millsaps band--which is technically the Band Section, 106 Engineers, Mississippi National Guard, 31st division, 4th corps area, 3rd army--leads our parades, turns out in all its regalia for our football games, and presents a chapel program once a year. They also are available for concerts in nearby towns, played about seven such this year.

In November the boys spent a week in training, fulfilling their obligation to Uncle Sam--who further requires two drills a week these days. (It used to be only one before things got under way Over There.) Right-hand man to Director Armand Coullet is lanky Jimmy Wall, who almost froze at camp but was hot under the collar the rest of the year about one thing or another. During the campus beautification drive the band came in for a bit of face lifting and is now fronted by Band Sponsor Sara Rhymes; and Majorettes Millicent Lampe, Olga Wright, Dora Frances Green, in brief uniforms of white satin trimmed with purple.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Big-shots of the Y. M. C. A., these religious leaders meet twice a month to take up problems dealing with school spirit, faculty-student relations, social activity, student devotion, and in general strive to create and maintain a wholesome atmosphere about the campus.

Such shining lights as Jimmy Cavett, J. S. Vandiver, and Bo Murry preside over the hurried meetings where all motions are quickly passed, over Cappy's invariable, unyielding opposition, and adjournment called. Combined, but futile, efforts of members are exerted to hold down radical Rabb, who at each new issue becomes more excited.

Sponsored by the YM, working with the YW, this year were such projects as the outstanding successful student body banquet, the servants' Christmas party, and beginnings of an "adequate social program for Millsaps."

Y. W. C. A. CABINET

This organization within the larger YW is made up of the officers and committee chairmen (program, publicity, service, social, campus-church relations) who meet at intervals to rejoice or deplore about current campus problems.

Mrs. Stone and Miss Thomas act as an advisory board for projects which the cabinet thinks up and presents to the Association. Their "something-differents" include their valentine party for Methodist Orphanage children, class-program series, to determine the talent in the several classes, and discussion of men and women relations.

It was also the YW which brought Mrs. Morgan to the campus for a week-end; Mrs. Morgan provoked more thought than any one speaker in some time.

The high spot of the year for the A Capella group came this year between March 24 and April 7, when the whole choir, 43 strong, piled into a Greyhound bus for an extensive singing tour through the states of Mississippi, Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio, Alabama.

Living off the fat of the land, they did their bit toward advertising the college and "spreading the good will of united Methodism"; and it was with pride that Mr. King presented them to his hometown in Smithville, Ohio, well pleased with the fruit of his hard work.

Other programs given during the year included Christmas carols, a spring festival, stops in Hattiesburg and Meridian, and a short stop outside Pelahatchie when the bus broke down, forcing the singers to hitch-hike into town.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

About 1926 Omicron Delta Kappa decided that Millsaps was an institution worthy of representation within its ranks and located Pi circle here. Since then the coveted key has dangled from the watch-chains of the biggest of the Big Men On Campus. Members, whose leadership in scholarship, athletics, publications, forensics, and dramatics, is recognized and thus honored meet once a month to discuss school improvement, shoot the bull, and black-ball prospective members. Four faculty members, Drs. Smith, Riecken, Moore, and Wharton, are active in the circle, while numerous others wear the key. Dr. Moore served this year on the governing council of the national organization.

Projects recently fostered by the group include the Millsaps Post Office, our new cafeteria, and the new walks on the campus. Tap Day and High School Day are annually entrusted to their care.

Representing the culmination of honorary recognition, the golden key of O. D. K. is one of the few badges of college years which definitely marks a man in later life.

SIGMA LAMBDA

Sponsored by ODK when co-eds grew numerous enough to develop leaders in their ranks, Sig L's now rival their founders in campus project-ing, provide more entertainment. The Faculty Frolic and Spring Varsity Show are their responsibilities.

At the monthly supper meetings the feminine big shots swap campus gossip with each other and their faculty members. On the more serious side, they joined this year with ODK in discussion of the Millsaps honor system.

The girls came to with a start mid-semester realizing that they all graduated in June, but Tap Day found a new chapter carrying the torch and talking fondly of some day becoming a Mortarboard chapter.

ETA SIGMA

With no SAE's on the campus, Minerva, goddess of wisdom, claims these master-minds as her devotees; she hopes that some day they will become a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa (most of the faculty members already wear the key), but meanwhile rewards them with almost consistent straight-A's. Only a Millsaps student can fully appreciate what a straight-A average means here; and for the holders to find time to shine in other campus pastimes is nothing short of miraculous. But Minerva never was a sissy.

DELTA KAPPA DELTA

Delta Kappa Delta, the youngest of Millsaps' honoraries, recognizes interest in law, government, and politics. It was founded in the spring of '38 by politically-minded KA's who claimed it to be an outgrowth of the older Pre-Law club from which it now draws its members.

Presiding over the group is Dickie Lauderdale; its sponsor and only faculty member is the Honorable Professor Raymond R. Haynes, former Vice-consul to Scotland and England. Great achievement of the year was the finger-printing for Uncle Sam, of all students who could be coaxed, coerced, or cornered. The future barristers hold mock-trials, receive counsel from prominent attorneys of the state and promote interest in civic matters. DKD, the only pre-law honorary in the South (so they claim) has made plans for expansion to other schools.

PI KAPPA DELTA

This assemblage of honorable arguers dates back to 1926 when the key, ornamented with all sorts of mystic symbols, was first awarded to students with two years of inter-collegiate debating experience. Since then it has also gone to orators and extemporaneous speakers.

Vandiver and Clark are the prize team with numerous tournament honors to their credit.

The chapter was host to a regional debate meet December 1, 2 and sent teams to the national Pi Kappa Delta tournament in Knoxville, Tenn., March 24-29.

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

Dr. Riecken's youngest child, Mississippi Alpha of Alpha Epsilon Delta, has since 1935 recognized scholarship and general aptitude in pre-med work; has sought to point out in its members those intangible attributes which foretell success in the practice of medicine. Its purpose is to acquaint under-grads with situations which will face them in med-school and The Profession and to provide practical training for the future medicos.

Led by such scientists as Streety Hamilton, Jimmy Booth, and Lancaster, the group sponsored the physical examinations this year, assisted in orientating freshmen, and succeeded in making physical check-ups compulsory for entrance to Millsaps.

KIT KAT

The oldest and (say they) most exclusive honorary on the campus, Kit-Kat is and intends to remain a local fraternity whose members are recognized for their ability in creative writing. (Even your frat brothers can't get you in if you aren't accepted as a local genius!) The would-be authors meet monthly to dine sumptuously, hear and criticize (above all, criticize) original papers, listen to Dr. White's discussions of his thesis on Arthur Murray, and discuss trends and events of the literary world.

Such literary greats as Ricks, Painter, Kolb, and Robertson go about patting each other on the back for their good fortune at being within the circle, whispering of the horrors of initiation, and bragging of the unique and outstanding camaraderie of their meetings. Recognition by Kit-Kat is, they assure themselves, the highest honor, the greatest privilege that can come to a student of literature.

CHI DELTA

This literary group, calling themselves "Bluestockings", is now a local, having deserted a national with which they were once affiliated because they could have just as much fun on their own.

They meet once a month in member's or faculty homes, drink tea, and listen to papers which they take turns in writing. Criticisms vary: Miss Porter: "You know, I think--that it's--delicate! Yes, delicate--and--and lovely, too." Miss Fitts: "Oh, it's sweet!" Mrs. Stone: "I didn't quite catch the last line; would you read it again, please?" . . . and so on.

As talk becomes general, refreshments are served, and from then on it's every genius for herself.

ETA SIGMA PHI

These students of the classics, sponsored by Dr. Hamilton, represent for Millsaps the national honorary frat which promotes scholarship in the classics and "loves beauty and wisdom."

Requiring an average of B for three semesters in its chosen subject, Eta Sigma Phi is recognized as a signal honor by BA students; but pre-med Jimmy Booth, who reigns as president this year over the gold and royal purple, is living proof that at Millsaps, anyway, prowess in Latin receives honor equal to prowess in lab.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

They really aren't Socialists; they're just broadminded! They have a special bookcase in the library overflowing with lengthy tomes which you read to make an A in Current History or when you are on a program.

The bi-weekly meetings are held sometimes at the Chi Omega house and sometimes in homes; they consist of a couple of papers on current topics of more or less interest to the group. Lancaster, Clark, and Vandiver make intelligent comments, the co-eds say "I don't think so," at appropriate intervals, and Dr. Moore moves adjournment. Vice-President Ann Stone served this year as secretary of the state organization which met in Jackson on February 17 for a conference to settle the problems of the world.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

The elite of the Millsaps dramatic world, giants of the stage, form the membership of Alpha Psi Omega. These veteran Thespians advise and hold firmly in check the boisterous Millsaps Players. A worthy goal in itself, especially coveted by KD's as a matter of tradition, recognition by Alpha Psi Omega has also served as a stepping-stone to ODK and Sigma Lambda.

Meetings this year have largely been given over to consideration of the deplorable fact that no one owns a pin and to the debating of several dark secrets concerning the identity of the officers. Each member of the group, from Whitsett on down, has identified himself with some special work in the field of play production and has been responsible for that particular phase at each performance. And then there is always the problem of Helen Ricks, who is eternally, incessantly mugging.

THE DRAMATICS CLUB

Under the leadership of Dr. White and the guiding hand of Alpha Psi Omega, the Millsaps Players encourage dramatic talent by numerous productions with students in charge of everything, from make-up to properties to advertisements. Carefully mixing new with experienced actors, the Players can usually be depended on for a good evening's performance--a fact which people of Jackson are coming to appreciate more and more. Hard work in the Players is rewarded on Tap-Day by the blue and yellow ribbons of Alpha Psi Omega.

BEETHOVEN CLUB

This organization of music students hopes soon to become a chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music frat. If the Greek letters want a group that really knows its treble and bass, we rise to recommend them. But if they are looking for wild-eyed genius and temperament, we fear they will be disappointed here. So prudent are these musicians that they are governed by 8 officers, including 3 vice-presidents.

THE RAMBLERS CLUB

It isn't just a name; they really ramble, down to Byram and up to the petrified forest near Flora to see in reality some of the formations which they study in geology classes. Always out in front is tireless, chocolate-eating Chief High Rambler Sullivan, discovering, explaining, and bringing to life again the world of some milleniums back. Sometimes petrified discoveries are lugged back to the campus and deposited for the enlightenment of posterity in the Millsaps museum, which was itself "discovered" this year by the petrified P&W, campus weekly.

Things Such As These Must Always Live On

June . . . and another college year glides away from the present to rekindle treasured memories of the past. Echoes of Alma Mater reverberate across the campus as another class leaves academic halls to enrichen a tradition of service already half a century in the making.

September . . . and hearts beat faster as a new class is inspired by the Millsaps tradition which now is their own. Breathless Today blends with serene Yesterday to bring forth a brilliant Tomorrow. Drawing upon her heritage of service, Millsaps again prepares to carry on.

Things such as these must always live on! To those who know Millsaps and what it stands for, a call goes out to keep their college in the vanguard of educational leadership and service in Mississippi and the South. Don't you know a student who should come to Millsaps?

MILLSAPS COLLEGE

BOBASHELA CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

School starts; U. Z. urges B. S. degrees and lab fees. Profs urge book buying; upper-classmen urge frosh to hurry and make up their minds. Cokes mount up!

Silence days; sorority girls depend on little sisters and boy friends to hang onto rushees to protect from enemy little sisters and boy friends.

Pledging; roses and carnations flood the campus and 83 beaming pledges swim out.

Boys start rushing seriously. Car accidentally rolls across campus into foundation of new Pike house. Pikes eye KA's but Roy convinces them Van's a good fellow. Wonder a bit and have foundation fixed.

Boys rushing; girls take each other to the grill. (They had to buy books anyway, you know) Moore and Wharton are nice to them, but even so, tension is greatly relieved when Boys pledge; take girls to grill. Moore and Wharton go alone or with each other. W. is having teeth filled, anyway.

IRC meets, 5 girls, 4 boys present. Decide to have a picnic and elect new members. Decide to elect new members first, vote of 5 to 4.

New cheerleaders announced, and Maxine, Beverly, and Eleanor are congratulated. Ditto the band and new sponsors Green, Wright and Lampe.

YWCA cabinet wants to have banquet welcoming students. First date in popular Gee Gee's calendar is December 25. Decides everyone will be welcome by then and abandons idea.

New teachers (Wharton, Ricketts, Musgrave, Galloway, Mrs. Sanders, Wallace, West, Emigh) and freshmen are being inspected by seniors and approved or scorned accordingly.

Dirt dauber falls from hands of KA chapter to—well, falls.

Moon is full and Millsaps wins first football game, beating Howard 14-0, to close a very successful month, in the whole.

OCTOBER

Millsaps has a dean at last! Dr. Riecken is announced as the fellow by the board of trustees, to the great satisfaction of all concerned—and the special gratification of the Science majors, who told us all along that he was a great guy.

24 prospective teachers kiss their afternoons goodbye and wend their way to Jackson schools to see how its done and flirt with that cute little trick on the front row.

Do not take chances with your eyes. Do not let poor lighting cause eyestrain with resulting headaches and nervousness. Use modern IES Better Light—Better Sight Lamps and protect your most valuable asset—your eyes.

Sorority receptions and frat picnics continue to survive as agencies to meet people; girl A asks boy B to be date at reception; boy B repays by taking girl A to picnic; girl A repays by taking boy B to her picnic; result: girl A meets boy B. Need for social program discovered by some bright soul.

Students adjourn daily to see the 11 o'clock parades during Fair week. Profs with classes from 10:20 to 12:10 decide that next year at this time they'll hold them on Capitol street.

Oh yes, the Fair! You probably remember that without our help.

Mrs. Morgan comes and dishes out common sense in large doses to large groups, inspiring countless bull-sessions on everything from marriage to politics. Campus unanimous in praise.

NOVEMBER

Pikes dedicate their pride and joy and invite the campus in to inspect. Campus much impressed, especially by wall-paper in hall.

To dance or not to dance hotly debated, with P&W radicals losing whatever standing they had with the Ministerial League. Side issue: where do jitterbugs Oliver and Wroten stand? Or are they sitting down?

Freshman talent starts rehearsing one-act plays for debut on Millsaps boards, coached by upper-classmen and Dr. White, in his spare moments.

Dance question slips out of sight for duration of Nov. 11. Parade, open house; 8 pg. P&W, half about Homecoming, half about Armistice day propaganda. Rabb: "It is my contention that this homecoming is not a parallel to those of 1915, 16, 17, 18, but a day on which America is doing what it thinks is right and a day on which America shall continue to do what is right other than going to war." Robertson: "The ills of Europe, if America must cure them, cannot be cured by the sword—it has been tried for two thousand years. America can best serve her purpose by striving not to take sides in the present war." Dirt-dauber predicts merger by Belhaven and Millsaps.

P&W also—weeks later—decides to name new dorm. Result, Grenworth, which nobody could remember to say.

Radio program over WSLI really getting underway, with and without orchestra. Live-say does nobly as Winchell, minus dirt, and Lib Campbell vocalizes.

Confusion over Thanksgiving settled by taking cuts and celebrating both.

DECEMBER

Month gets underway with debaters swarming on campus from seven states for annual warm-up tourney. Got more than warm, got hot, especially the girls, who didn't like each other so good. Coeds look the boys over, flirt mildly, but no broken hearts when they go.

E. O. Harbin beams at the campus, talks about social program, suggests skating rink in Coach Van's prized gym. Rabb is all for it.

Sigma Lambda dresses up the profs and they put on a return performance of the Destreet School. Cute kids: Peck's Bad Boy Moore; Sling-shot Sullivan; Tricycle Mitchell; and that coy little Jenny Thomas; Sissy Wharton;—and on into the night. Huge success.

Home for Christmas, no rest for the weary; everybody else is home too. Large time had by all, and we come back to school properly exhausted for:

JANUARY

Exams, remember? Or would you rather remember The Snow, which started falling at 2 o'clock on Monday, first day of exam week! There were frozen pipes for the old frat houses, so the boys shaved over at the Pikes'. There were boots for all and sundry, and jodphurs for the shaplier coeds. Snowballs in profusion, ditto exam cuts, ditto fun.

Joe Brooks gets a glorified picture on top of his P&W column and editor Robertson is loudly censured for allowing it. We love him like he is.

FEBRUARY

Dr. Smith, Mr. Murphy and O D K get to work on Murrah Curve, on the theory that they are doing this for Grady Graham's own good. But it hurts us as much as it does them, because it turns out to be a slow process and wet concrete is a nuisance.

We will all be each other's Valentines, because we all love each other, because this is the month for initiations and brotherly and/or sisterly love. Once more the freshmen beam over white, pink, red (roses) (carnations) and jeweled pins loaned by also-beaming big brothers (sisters)

Agitation begins to have a portrait of Dr. Key painted to hang in the Administration Building. Exact location disputed, but idea agreed on as worthy of student contributions.

"Stop Thief" presented to a full-house—during Leap week. Both the play and the week great success, and coeds mildly suggest return engagement—of both!

The reviled but revered Dirt Dauber was laid to rest with appropriate ceremonies by the P&W, and from its ashes rose the milder Majordomo—after a brief pause for station identification.

MARCH

Rhymes and Bledsoe elected Miss Millsaps and Master Major in unannounced election. Other candidates, Swayze, Phifer, Ogden, M. Moore, Lancaster, Selman, Hndson, Vandiver, A. Smith.

Millsaps Majors beat the Choctaws once again, this time to win the Dixie conference with bang-up basketball; Chunkin' Charlie is the uncrowned king of the campus.

The debaters go somewhere or other and debate again; not that it's unusual.

Spring tentatively approaches the campus, stays long enough to seem permanent, and retreats, leaving us to unpack the sweaters again.

APRIL

Spring hols and glee club trip. Teachers go to coast for conventions and no classes for many students.

Glee club comes back proud of (1) Mr. King (2) Itself. Both justifiably. Drive the campus mad babbling about hara-kiri; Say-hey now, Miss Wisteria; Beta Lambda; that Beautiful Methodist church; dessert for breakfast; Jack Ferris.

History majors go into retirement cramming for comprehensives, joined shortly afterward by English majors, social science, and on and on. They live through them, to their own intense satisfaction and the disgust of underclass friends who got sick and tired of hearing them beef about it. Sara Buie passed. So did Dolores Dye.

Sigma Lambda in general and Ann Stone in particular put on the Varsity Show. Another full house. Show-stealers: Sam Schiek as Sanders; Dick Dorman's songs—especially "Tomorrow's Tears."

Campus beautiful to the eye of the beholder, what with green trees, flowers, what-not. Too bad so many of the flowers were onion grass.

Usual spring crop of frat picnics with the Y Retreat setting the pace. Remember that full moon?

High school day causes usual hnb-bub with cute, scared, cock-sure, bewildered, amazed, sophisticated (multiple-choice) seniors from Mississippi's choicest high schools being hopefully squired around by the cream of Millsaps.

MAY

Tap-day brings recognition to sundry hopefuls and a glow of satisfaction to their sponsors. Fond and proud papas dish out dough for initiation fees and tell the home town society editor what Junior's doing at Millsaps—all by himself!

Term papers, book reports, Mrs. Clark distracted because fine Christian young men and women just will steal books, when a grade hangs in the balance! But the books one by one come in. The book reports are painfully constructed from quotations, opinions, and just plain bull. The term papers are pieced together at 2 o'clock the night before they're due. And so . . . we come . . . to

EXAMS

No snow this time to distract us. But almost as bad are the C-average seniors, smug about exemptions, who read the funny papers at the library; whisper loudly to each other "Let's go to the Grill"; and otherwise prove obnoxious. We hate them.

Then they look solemn. And they learn the words to "Alma Mater." And they press the million wrinkles from their black gowns. And they graduate. And they leave. And we love them.
